MOSQUERO MENTIRAS

Wanted--A rain. For further particulars call on the wheat farmers.

Mrs. P. S. McDowell is visiting in Texas and Phil is batching and running the ranch during her absence.

Mr. Isidro Montoya, former Union county politician and ranchman, who now resides at Watrous, was visiting old friends and looking after business interests here last week.

Mr. A. H. McGlothlin, Mosquero postmaster, attended the stockholders meeting of the Peco Refinery company at Tucumcari and was elected president. He reports that everything is almost ready to commence active operations and that the company will operate on a dividend-paying basis.

Politicians were out in force at the Community Fair at Mosquero the greater part of the candidates for the County offices of both tickets came down and met the voters to the mutual benefit of both the voters and the candidates.

Hon. Juan J. Duran of Clayton, a prominent Union county politician, was taking in the Fair last week accompanied by Mr. Kerr, the Democratic candidate for state land commissioner. Mr. Kerr was the only member of the state ticket on the Democratic side of the ticket that visited Mosquero.

The Fair has come and gone and was a glorious success, thanks to the whole hearted work of the different committees. A large crowd was in attendance, a beautiful exhibit of farm, garden and field products, that was a surprise to the farmers themselves, a fine exhibit of live stock and poultry and a display of needle work, embroidery and fancy work of various kinds that was the admiration of the crowd and a display of cooking and canning results that made one's mouth water to see them all united to make a display that was really beautiful and highly instructive. The Boy Scouts Band from Tucumcari rendered good music and instructive and entertaining lectures formed a prominent part of the program. The platform dance at night was voted a huge success by the young folks and the people all went home thoroughly convinced that the fair had been a thoroughly worthwhile venture that had proven highly successful.

An unexpected pleasure at the Community Fair at Mosquero last week was the opportune arrival of Judge Merritt C. Mechem and party. Judge Mechem had been invited to deliver the address of the day at the Fair, but had answered that on account of previous engagements he would be unable to be here. However, he found that by rushing around a little he could visit Mosquero for a short while in the morning and by rushing out could make his night's engagement. Consequently, he arrived unexpectedly but opportunely, and was given a warm welcome. The entire party was escorted to the platform at the school house where the Fair was being held, a few words of explanation and introduction spoken by Hon. Benj. F. Brown, and Mr. Hugh H. Williams, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, introduced with the request that he recite the little poem, "Life's a Funny Proposition After All" that had been recited with a great deal of appreciation at the State convention. Mr. Williams made a short speech, being rather well acquainted with the Mosquero people on account of having been here at various times when we were trying to secure proper depot facilities and stock pens, he felt quite at home, and after a few remarks livened the audience up with the little poem, recited in such a way that quite a few of the voters were left with the impression that he had probably missed his calling and should have been a leading actor on a stage instead of a politician. Judge Mechem was next introduced and made a short speech setting forth how he had long been acquainted with this part of the country, having formerly resided in Tucumcari during the settlement of the Mesa, promised to try and make a governor of the people regardless of party bosses or politics if elected, and closed a short but eloquent address with congratulations to the people on the exhibits that he had just seen at the Fair and which demonstrated that they had made a success of reclaiming the Mesa. Mr. Strong, present state treasurer and candidate for re-election, next spoke for a few minutes, told a good story and wound up the meeting to hastily depart for Dawson where they were to speak that night. The party made a good impression and we hope received a good impression of our little town and vicinity.

Mr. Orren Beatty, Mosquero farmer and formerly county agent for Union county, has been named by the Democratic Central committee of the county as candidate for representative to the State legislature to take the place on the ticket made vacant by the resignation of Mr. A. H. McGlothlin. Mr. Beatty is well known throughout the county and will doubtless make a strong race.
